

Helpful hints on Flights:

The cost of flights is obviously a significant factor in the weekend - especially for those traveling from the UK. At the moment for example a London to Budapest flight for Friday travel and return Sunday is around £171 with BA.

If you vary the return to Monday the price drops to £150, by playing with the arrival date being Wednesday or Thursday the price drops to as low as £116.

If you choose to fly into Vienna then the ticket prices fall to between £90 and £104. The point being there are options if you book now and we will be assisting with transportation if we know we have groups or individuals flying in for the weekend.

Likewise Bratislava as an arrival point gives flight costs between £90 and £115 per ticket - contact me directly if you need any assistance with flights and Bill Mesley will happily see what he can do to assist!

Another airport to consider would be Timisoara in Romania which is also only an hour away from the venue and London to Timisoara is around £90 return.

Remember that once you are there for the weekend there are no bar incidentals to pay (except spirits) and last orders are called when the last man standing retires for the evening! (Just like Mess & Regimental Dinners!)
